

How does FINANCIAL AID add up?

$25,445

This is the annual cost of attending St. John's College of Nursing, but it is most likely not your number. Let's see how financial aid can make a difference.

- $10,000

You apply to be a HSHS scholarship recipient and earn a $5,000 scholarship per semester. (Four-year service contract with HSHS to work as a RN is required.)

- $7,200

After filling out your FAFSA® application, you earn up to $7,200 in ISAC MAP grants as an Illinois resident.

- $2,000

Then, you qualify for the St. John's College Scholarship Program, which can earn you $2,000.

- $3,000

Now, you can do a little research and find a couple of external scholarships from websites like Fastweb, Scholarships.com and the college board's scholarship search.

$3,246

That's more than $22,000 in gift aid that is NOT DEBT, making your remaining annual cost to attend St. John's College only $3,246!

But wait! There's more!

You also could take advantage of federal loan programs and receive up to $7,500 a year, giving you up to an EXCESS OF $4,254 IN FUNDS! These funds can be used toward housing, transportation and general expenses.

Note: Financial aid differs depending on each student's situation and is not guaranteed.
